The Tire that Stands The Gaff on the Road

It isn't every tire that will hold up under actual road tests. THERMOID CROLIDE COMPOUND tires do it because they are made with the single idea that they must give lasting service.

IT IS ALL IN THE MAKING

The incorporation of Crolide Compound in Thermoid tires by methods used exclusively in the Thermoid factories closes all the pores in the rubber. It keeps the dirt, oil and water from finding their way into the tread walls. They cannot be prematurely ruined. That is why they last on the road.

POST INSISTS ON DEFENSE

Federal Officer Under Fire
Was Not Heard by House
Rules Committee

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Assistant Secretary of Labor Post wrote Chairman Campbell, of the house rules committee yesterday protesting against the closing of its investigation of his official conduct in alien deportation proceedings without giving him an opportunity to be heard.

Mr. Post charged that the house immigration committee had withheld "impartial testimony which is believed to be favorable to me," in presenting a review of some cases in which decisions have been made by him. Further, he wrote that his "official judgment, save for criminal violation of law, may be challenged only by impeachment."

Besides asking opportunity to testify and produce witnesses in his behalf, Mr. Post requested that the rules committee require that definite and comprehensive charges against him be lodged with the committee and that evidence, which he said had been kept secret by the immigration committee, be included in their record of the investigation.

Conceding the cancellation of 1,400 warrants for arrest, Mr. Post said that such action by him was necessary because of "defects, failure or complete absence of proof or for other adequate reasons."

After receipt of the letter, Chairman Campbell reiterated that the committee did not intend to call Mr. Post as a witness, but that he would be heard whenever he presented himself.

—we've made our boy's clothes to withstand just such "stunts" as this

—our idea of boys' clothes is to make them adapt themselves to "real boys." —when you buy a man's overcoat, you choose it for warmth. —when you buy a straw hat, you choose it for coolness.

—why not, then, plan boys' clothes to fit their purpose? —you can't change a boy's way of doing things, but you can make his clothes to stand up under the things you know he is going to do.

—we've planned our clothes to give that boy the battle of his young life in the attempt to wear them out.
